A Lesson in Thrift

Sixty-six out of every hundred persons who die in the United States leave no estate whatever, and of the remaining thirty-four only nine leave estates larger than $5000. At the age of 65, ninety-seven out of every hundred persons in America are partially or wholly dependent upon relatives, friends or the public for their daily bread, for their clothing and for a roof under which to sleep. Ninety-eight per cent of the American people are living from day to day on their wages, and a loss of employment would mean pauperism for all but two per cent.
